

Department of Politics and International Studies
Invites you to the screening of

SHOCK ROOM

A film by Kathryn Millard

With introductions by Carol Johnson and Martha Augoustinos &
Post-screening discussion with the Author

The University of Adelaide | Friday, 17 March
4:30-6:00 pm, LG 29, Lower Napier Building

In the early 1960s psychologist Stanley Milgram, in seeking to understand the Holocaust, ran a series of controversial experiments on obedience. An authority orders you to inflict painful shocks on another person. Most of us shall obey, claimed Milgram. But shall we? This film addresses key issues in political psychology that remain highly relevant today.

All welcome: No registration required