MY MEMORABLE UNI MOMENT OF 2018 NATIONAL AGRICULTURE DAY 21 NOVEMBER 2018

Send us a photo of your most memorable uni moment of 2018 and win some exciting prizes.

South Australia is blessed with a strong agricultural history and a thriving agricultural sector that is a major contributor to the state's economy. The University of Adelaide has been at the forefront in areas of scientific and economic research in agriculture through its campuses at Waite, Roseworthy and North Terrace.

At the Centre for Global Food and Resources, we are proud to contribute to this legacy through our two flagship programs: Master of Global Food and Agricultural Business and Master of Agribusiness. In addition, our research in the areas of agricultural economics, consumer behaviour research, resource economics, environmental economics, health economics and development economics is helping to improve the livelihoods of communities across developing countries in the Pacific, South East Asia and Africa.

It is National Agriculture Day on November 21 and we want to celebrate the contribution of agriculture to the community through this competition. We want you to be part of this celebration and we would love to hear from you on what has been your most Memorable Uni Moment of 2018. It could have been on a visit to a farm, or during one of your many experiments or it could have been in class when you are learning about agronomy, animal production or food systems.
